

Making Initial Contact

Sometimes, it might feel hard to initiate contact. It might be that we would like to attract new customers, or we might want to apply for a new job. The pandemic didn't make it easy on humans to keep up the social skills that we require to be at ease with others and make a conversation flow. At GA Consulting, we offer online learning courses, self-paced learning modules via #pinkuniversity, face to face training and coaching to sharpen your skills.

Feel free to get in touch, solutions will be tailored to your needs.

